The Amin Hasan Award (AHA)

Middle School students (Grades 6-10) are required to complete a specific number of activities per year in each IAE (Innovation, Action, Engagement) component both in-school and out.

Innovation covers a wide range of artistic activities that require going through a creative thinking process for designing and executing service projects.

Action covers a number of individual and team, physical education activities.

Engagement includes hands-on activities which require interaction with the community, while promoting youth participation and interest in social issues of local and global concern.

Community Service Projects:

The Community Service Project is an integral aspect of the AHA programme. The project's most notable aim is to bond with and benefit the local community through effective planning, ranging from investigation to preparation, taking action, reflection, and finally demonstrating the project. Students can explore places within communities and, accordingly, be motivated to act in a new context.

Community Service Projects must meet the following criteria:

- For Grades 6, 7, and 9, the projects could be implemented individually or in groups (up to three). However, a group project must clearly show the division of responsibilities. (Students in Grades 8 and 10, their performance and results in the grade level project will substitute for the AHA community services project.)
- Upon completing the project, a detailed report must be submitted. This report must show each person involved, their respective roles, in addition to the challenges faced.
- The report should be supported by evidence in the form of photographs, publications, recommendations, etc.

Coordinator's note

Your participation in AHA activities will allow you to consider multiple perspectives, which will stimulate your innovation and creativity.

Most importantly, it will allow you to link theoretical knowledge with practice, thus enabling you to apply what you have learnt to benefit the local and/or wider community.

The ultimate goal of the AHA department is to foster your consciousness and appreciation of life outside the academic field. Take your time to think about what activities would challenge you and most importantly, think about what you would enjoy; plan, observe, and reflect, but also remember to have some fun.

If you would like the AHA to include any specific activity, whether inside or outside the school, please do not hesitate to email us at AHA@montessori.edu.jo

Thank you!
